

Who Is SENGE X?

SENGEX is a strategy and technology consulting firm that combines problem solving, business process, quality/standards, and technical expertise to deliver innovative solutions quickly and economically to commercial and government customers.

The SENGE X Difference

SENGEX is focused towards providing highly innovative solutions in broad areas of the business processes within government and corporate institutions. Our methodology is based on utilizing highly qualified and well experienced teams to focus on providing both near term and long term solution sets to the highly complex problems inherent in today's corporate and government agencies. We bring management, business process, and technical professionals to bear on set customer defined problem set.

The SENGE X Team

The SENGE X Team is comprised of multi-disciplinary professionals that have proven experience in the growth and sustainability of corporate profitability. The SENGE X team members have held executive positions for organizations that include venture-backed startups, entrepreneur, and turnaround entities. We believe this experience coupled with key staff that also has expertise in military operations and government program management provides government clients confidence in SENGE X's ability to delivery cost effective, leading edge and timely results to their most difficult challenges.

SENGEX + Solutions = Results

SENGEX drives innovation and the advancement of technology in both government and commercial market with specialized focus in the telehealth and healthcare sectors.

The SENGE X engineering team has extensive domain experience across multiple disciplines as they relate to the constant operations, communications, information management, and security demands required from today's medical equipment and commercial healthcare Information Technology (IT) infrastructures.

Leveraging a vast knowledge base in Operating Systems, IT networking, IT security, database management, and customer software application & hardware development, SENGE X has the technical and clinical expertise necessary to implement creative solutions for all your information systems needs and can offer complete turn-key consulting and development services into both commercial and government medical/healthcare entities. These services include:

- Human Factors Engineering
- Information Technology Networking and Security
- IT Infrastructure Management
- Hardware and Firmware Development
- Software and Application Development
- Compliance and Regulatory Services

For more information on SENGE X services and solutions, visit www.sengexllc.com, or contact SENGE X at 703-506-0040